An eventful quarter reflected in our portfolio composition

During the second quarter equity markets fell and volatility increased. With our exposure to listed companies, Investor AB's net asset value (NAV) also declined during the quarter. However, Investor still recorded positive NAV growth for the six-month period as a whole. Changes in stock market values, the completion of the bid for Gambro, and the addition of Husqvarna as a Core Investment, resulted in significant changes to our portfolio composition.

The Stockholm Stock Exchange (SSE) ended the quarter down 10 percent, the sharpest quarterly drop since the market recovery began in early 2003. The market is concerned about future economic growth, inflation and interest rates. Imbalances in the global economy, most notably the U.S. twin deficits and a concern for falling real estate prices, are contributing to the uncertainties around the world. In this environment, it is gratifying that Investor has a strong balance sheet with flexibility to act quickly when interesting new opportunities arise.

During the quarter we launched a bid for Gambro jointly with EQT. The offer received over 90 percent acceptance on June 2 and was declared unconditional. In mid-June, a new Gambro board was appointed which is now fully focusing on implementing value-creating measures together with the company's management. With this deal, Investor has increased its ownership in Gambro considerably while releasing capital at the same time. We expect the Gambro transaction to generate attractive returns for our shareholders.

Husqvarna new Core Investment

In June, the spin-out of Husqvarna from Electrolux was completed and the company was listed on the SSE. We believe each company can be better developed separately which allows each to fully focus on their respective operations. Investor has raised its ownership in Electrolux on several occasions since last fall and we further increased our stake in both Electrolux and Husqvarna during the quarter. We now hold more than 10 percent of the capital in both companies. We continue to believe that the manufacturing restructuring process, increased market focus and investments in product development implemented in Electrolux, combined with its existing strong market position, will lead to higher profitability longer term. Husqvarna is a market leader in its product segments and solidly profitable. We believe the company has attractive growth opportunities, organic and through acquisitions, which can create growing value for its shareholders.

Higher share of unlisted assets

Going forward, Gambro will be classified as an Operating Investment and Husqvarna as a Core Investment. With these changes, our new Operating Investments business area has increased its share of total assets to 5 percent from 2 percent at year-end. Unlisted assets, as a percentage of our total portfolio, have also risen and now amount to about 16 percent. Increasing the percentage of unlisted assets allows us to create proprietary returns for our shareholders.

Solid progress by 3 Scandinavia

It is satisfying to report that the mobile broadband operator 3 Scandinavia has improved its operations. The trend in Denmark is especially encouraging. During the last 12 months, the subscriber base has increased by close to 40 percent and 3 Scandinavia has attracted 100,000 new customers so far this year. The migration from 2G to 3G has increased and mobile broadband services are also being expanded and used more and more. The target to reach breakeven on a monthly basis, by 2008 at the latest, remains unchanged.

Net investments in Private Equity

After a few years of heavy net divestitures within our Private Equity operations, we are now entering a period of net investments as we rebuild the portfolios. In the second quarter, our Private Equity business net invested a total of SEK 2 bn. and contributed somewhat positively to our net asset value. However, for the first half of the year, the contribution was negative, primarily due to a reduction in the value of holdings in Investor Growth Capital caused by the weakness of the U.S. dollar.

Returns require taking risks

A Comment

Finding new attractive companies and developing existing holdings is the core of our strategy. At the heart of Investor is the ability to pursue long-term value creation. As in all businesses, we must take risks in order to generate returns, and we will continue do this in the best interest of our shareholders.

Börie Ekholm

The private equity activities generate high returns when exits are implemented, allow for increased diversification of the portfolio, synergies with the core investments and the possibility to discover important new technologies and new business trends early.

Investor conducts two different types of private equity investments; buyouts and venture capital. Buyout activities are conducted through EQT's funds, which are partly owned by Investor. Venture capital activities are conducted by Investor Growth Capital, a wholly owned subsidiary. EQT, partly owned by Investor, has nine funds focused on companies in Northern Europe and China. Investor Growth Capital is active in the United States, Northern Europe and Asia.

Investments in private equity, which involve more risk by their nature, are made with the objective of realizing an average annualized return (IRR) of 20 percent.

Accounting policies

This interim report has been prepared in accordance with IAS 34 Interim Financial Reporting and RR 31 Consolidated Interim Financial Reporting. The accounting policies that have been applied are in agreement with the accounting policies used in the preparation of the company's latest annual report.

The following is a brief description of the accounting policies that are of central importance to the preparation of Investor's financial reports.

Accounting and valuation of holdings

Subsidiaries

Companies defined as subsidiaries are consolidated with the purchase method in accordance with IAS 27 and IFRS 3.

Associated companies

Investor's main rule is that associated companies are reported as financial instruments at fair value in accordance with IAS 39 and IAS 28, paragraph 1. In the Operating Investments business area, Investor normally has a controlling interest or large ownership stake in the underlying investment and is involved in the companies' business activities to a larger extent than in holdings in other business areas. As a consequence of this, the equity method is applied to investments in associated companies in the Operating Investments business area in accordance with IAS 28.

Holdings reported within several business areas

In cases when a holding is reported in several business areas, and the measurement and accounting principles differ, the valuation method applied to the relatively largest share of the holding is also used in the other business areas.

Other holdings

All other holdings are reported and valued as financial instruments at fair value in accordance with IAS 39. See also below.

Financial instruments

Equity-related investments

In accordance with IAS 39, equity-related investments are reported at fair value through profit and loss. Equity-related investments are valued as follows:

Listed holdings

Listed holdings are valued on the basis of their share price (purchase price, if there is one quoted) on the closing date.

Unlisted holdings

Unlisted holdings are valued on the basis of the "International Private Equity and Venture Capital Valuation Guidelines" prepared and published jointly by the venture capital organizations EVCA, BVCA and AFIC.

For directly owned holdings (i.e. those owned directly by a company in the Investor Group), an overall evaluation is made to determine the valuation method that is appropriate for each specific holding. It is first taken into account whether a recent financing round or "arms length" transaction has been made, after which a valuation is made by applying relevant multiples to the holding's key ratios (for example, EBITDA), derived from a relevant sample of comparable companies, with deduction for individually determined adjustments as a consequence of, for example, the size difference between the company being valued and the sample of comparable companies. An assessment is then made of the above-mentioned methods to determine the one that best reflects the market value of the holding, and the holding is then valued according to that method. In those cases when other valuation methods better reflect the fair value of a holding, this value is used, which means that certain holdings are valued with methods other than the ones described above.

Fund holdings

Holdings in funds are valued at Investor's share of the value that the fund manager reports for all holdings in the fund and is normally updated when a new valuation is received. If Investor's assessment is that the fund manager's valuation does not sufficiently take into account factors that affect the value of the underlying holdings, or if the valuation is considered to deviate considerably from IFRS principles, the value is adjusted.

Liabilities

Investor uses derivatives to control the exposure of the debt portfolio against fluctuations in exchange rates and interest rates. Hedge accounting is applied to reflect this in the consolidated accounts in cases when a derivative and the underlying loan qualify for this in accordance with IAS 39. When loans and derivatives do not qualify for hedge accounting, loans are valued at the amortized cost and derivatives are reported at fair value through profit and loss.

Other financial instruments

Derivatives and short-term investments are reported at fair value through profit and loss.

Financial instruments other than those noted above are reported at the amortized cost.

Property, plant and equipment

In accordance with IAS 16, Investor's real estate properties are reported at fair value.

For property, plant and equipment, depreciation is based on the components in which the acquisition value is distributed over the components and depreciation is based on the useful life of each.

Share-based payment

Investor's employee stock option programs and share programs are reported in accordance with the regulations in IFRS 2 for share-based payments that are equity settled. A value for the programs is estimated on the grant date which then comprises the basis for the cost that is distributed over the vesting period of the programs. Provisions for social security costs are reported on a continuous basis in accordance with URA 46 and are thus distributed in the same way as the cost for employee stock option and share programs.

Taxes

The valuation of assets and liabilities at fair value results in temporary differences when the fair value differs from the tax value. In accordance with IAS 12, a deferred tax liability, or deferred tax receivable, is recognized for temporary differences.

Deferred tax receivables resulting from temporary differences, or due to loss carry-forwards, are recognized only to the extent to which it is probable that it can be realized against taxable profits within the near future.

Other

Changes in value

For items that were held in the balance sheet at the beginning and at the close of the period, the value change consists of the difference in value between these two dates. For items in the balance sheet that were realized during the period, the value change consists of the difference between the proceeds received and the value at the beginning of the period. For items in the balance sheet that were acquired during the period, the value change consists of the difference between the value at the close of the period and the acquisition cost.

Changes to comparative figures

As a consequence of the change in accounting method for 3 Scandinavia (transition to equity method), presented for the first time in the Year-end Report for 2005, and a number of minor modifications to the regulations and application of IFRS, a number of comparative figures have been changed in the income statement and balance sheet in relation to those reported in the Interim Report for January-June 2005.

Repurchase of own shares

In accordance with a decision made by the 2006 Annual General Meeting, 700,000 B-shares were repurchased for SEK 89 m. in the second quarter to hedge Investor's long-term incentive program. The buyback does not affect Investor's share capital but will have a positive impact on earnings per share and equity per share.
